Here are some highlights for this week:

---In the ACADEMICS section, many of the free CUNY College Now Summer Courses programs have posted their online applications. These are open to current 10th and 11th graders, and include a wide variety of classes in STEM, Humanities, and Business fields. Several already have upcoming deadlines – for Baruch College it is April 1st, and for Bronx Community College the deadline is March 31st.

---In the GOVERNMENT/LEADERSHIP category, all Brooklyn residents may apply for the Brooklyn District Attorney's Spring Break Legal Internship; it runs from April 18 -22 and the application deadline is April 1st.

New York University offers several excellent, free leadership/personal development programs:

1-NYU Democracy Scholars for current juniors combines small seminars in political philosophy and social justice activism, with additional personalized support with the college admissions process. It meets for two weeks in the summer, followed by periodic meetings during the 2022-2023 school year.

2-College Access Leadership Institute for current 10th and 11th graders trains students in various aspects of college admissions, and encourages them to continue as College Access Ambassadors at Stuyvesant throughout the school year – it requires one week in the summer and periodic meetings after September.

3-NYU Aspire for current sophomores is a two-year program that commences with a week-long intensive summer experience focused on leadership and college preparation, and then continues throughout the 2022 - 2024 school years, with occasional sessions on all aspects of the college admissions process

---And in the MUSEUMS section, there are two new history-focused internships available. The New York Historical Society's Student Historian Program allows interested students (9th, 10th, and 11th grades) to spend the summer working with curators & experts in researching and developing exhibitions and helping at the museum. And the Gilder-Lehrman Virtual Internship engages participants from all grades to engage in historical activities & projects with like-minded students from around the country.

For ease of use, these newsletters are organized by different categories, such as Academic Programs, Business & Jobs, Community Service, and so on.

New items always will be listed first in every category, followed by those with approaching deadlines (Deadline Approaching).

As always, students and parents should feel free to contact Harvey Blumm for advice & assistance at: hblumm@stuy.edu

Questions, suggestions, and information about other opportunities are always welcome and appreciated, and may be sent to Internship/Opportunity Coordinator Harvey Blumm at: hblumm@stuy.edu - we will share your helpful information with the Stuy community!

Events:

New: Event Approaching: The Center for Fiction Presents Melissa Febos and Brandon Taylor on Narrative Craft

"Critically acclaimed authors Melissa Febos (Body Work, Abandon Me, and Whip Smart) and Brandon Taylor (Filthy Animals, Real Life) dig into the radical power of personal narrative, with special attention to the rigor of craft. A story must not only be well told, it must be well constructed. But what does that mean for your work? This is less of a how-to and more a call to courage: for great writing has the potential to be revolutionary."

National Labor Relations Board Student Ambassador Program

"The National Labor Relations Board is a federal agency that enforces the National Labor Relations Act. Through the NLRB's Student Ambassador Program, students will get to engage with NLRB attorneys and investigators and will learn about the rights of workers and the responsibilities of employers and unions. Students will complete a learning phase and then students will get the opportunity to create a public facing project that the NLRB will help shape and promote. Each student will be assigned an attorney or investigator as a mentor for the public facing project.

Examples of a public facing project can be an article in a student or local newspaper or a presentation with an NLRB representative in a class or conference. This Program is a wonderful opportunity for students to develop familiarity with the law, law enforcement, and federal agencies. Equally important, students will get the chance to create a project centered on what they have learned. They will develop their project skills, use their creativity, and step forward as leaders. At the end of the Program, they will receive a Certificate of Accomplishment."

Eligible: Current sophomores, juniors, and seniors
