Here are some highlights for this week:

---In the ACADEMICS section, many of the free CUNY College Now Summer Courses programs have posted their online applications. These are open to current 10th and 11th graders, and include a wide variety of classes in STEM, Humanities, and Business fields. Several already have upcoming deadlines – for Baruch College it is April 1st, and for Bronx Community College the deadline is March 31st.

---In the GOVERNMENT/LEADERSHIP category, all Brooklyn residents may apply for the Brooklyn District Attorney's Spring Break Legal Internship; it runs from April 18 -22 and the application deadline is April 1st.

New York University offers several excellent, free leadership/personal development programs:

1-NYU Democracy Scholars for current juniors combines small seminars in political philosophy and social justice activism, with additional personalized support with the college admissions process. It meets for two weeks in the summer, followed by periodic meetings during the 2022-2023 school year.

2-College Access Leadership Institute for current 10th and 11th graders trains students in various aspects of college admissions, and encourages them to continue as College Access Ambassadors at Stuyvesant throughout the school year – it requires one week in the summer and periodic meetings after September.

3-NYU Aspire for current sophomores is a two-year program that commences with a week-long intensive summer experience focused on leadership and college preparation, and then continues throughout the 2022 - 2024 school years, with occasional sessions on all aspects of the college admissions process

---And in the MUSEUMS section, there are two new history-focused internships available. The New York Historical Society's Student Historian Program allows interested students (9th, 10th, and 11th grades) to spend the summer working with curators & experts in researching and developing exhibitions and helping at the museum. And the Gilder-Lehrman Virtual Internship engages participants from all grades to engage in historical activities & projects with like-minded students from around the country.

For ease of use, these newsletters are organized by different categories, such as Academic Programs, Business & Jobs, Community Service, and so on.

New items always will be listed first in every category, followed by those with approaching deadlines (Deadline Approaching).

As always, students and parents should feel free to contact Harvey Blumm for advice & assistance at: hblumm@stuy.edu

Questions, suggestions, and information about other opportunities are always welcome and appreciated, and may be sent to Internship/Opportunity Coordinator Harvey Blumm at: hblumm@stuy.edu - we will share your helpful information with the Stuy community!

Events:

New: Event Approaching: The Center for Fiction Presents Melissa Febos and Brandon Taylor on Narrative Craft

“Critically acclaimed authors Melissa Febos (Body Work, Abandon Me, and Whip Smart) and Brandon Taylor (Filthy Animals, Real Life) dig into the radical power of personal narrative, with special attention to the rigor of craft. A story must not only be well told, it must be well constructed. But what does that mean for your work? This is less of a how-to and more a call to courage: for great writing has the potential to be revolutionary.”

If you are selected for or enroll in any of the above opportunities, please inform Mr. Blumm ASAP at: hblumm@stuy.edu

Whichever extra-curricular program, internship, or community service activity a student may participate in, they should be sure to ask their supervisor/coordinator to write a letter of appreciation before it concludes – it is sometimes very difficult to obtain this later on. And the more personal & detailed the letter, the better. A copy should then be submitted to your counselor.

Please feel free to contact Harvey Blumm at hblumm@stuy.edu with any questions or feedback on any items in this message, or with any suggestions or concerns you may have. And always feel free to share any information about opportunities that may be of interest to our parents, teachers, or students
